When the language of this document contradicts the AGREEMENT between the Massachusetts
Community College Council and the Massachusetts Board of Higher Ed or other relevant contract(s), the latter prevails.
The College Forum is BHCC’s central governance structure. The Forum is an inclusive body, representing all segments of the College from both the Charlestown and Chelsea campuses. All administrators, faculty and professional staff, as well as three representatives from support staff and three representatives from the Student Government Association, constitute the membership of the Forum. Adjunct faculty are invited to attend Forum meetings but do not have voting rights. Meetings occur monthly during the academic year on the Charlestown campus. The agenda is published five days in advance, as are motions to come before the Forum for a vote. This rule may only be waived at the discretion of the Moderator and a two thirds vote of those in attendance. In addition, Committee Chairs circulate information about important motions to all Forum members via email before the Forum meeting.

Under the umbrella of the Forum, eleven Forum Committees operate: six Policy Committees may present recommendations to the Forum and five Advisory Committees which present information but may not present motions.

Faculty hold the majority of positions on all Forum Committees. In addition, all committees have at least one professional staff member, an administrative representative, a support staff representative, and one student representative. The Forum elects the majority of members to these Committees, with some members appointed by the President.

Forum Committees make recommendations on issues pertaining to each Committee’s charge. Committee agendas can be generated by members of a Committee or by other members of the College community. When a Forum Committee arrives at a policy recommendation, the Committee Chair presents the recommendation to the College Forum for discussion and, where appropriate, a vote.

The Forum Moderator uses Parliamentary Procedure to lead College Forum meetings and is also a member of the Governance Committee. The moderator carries motions passed by the Forum to the President for her approval. The moderator then reports the President’s decisions back to the Forum and its Committees.

THE GOVERNANCE STRUCTURE
The most important structure for governance is the College Forum in which, given the reality of shared responsibility,
♦ the positions of the members involved can be heard, and, if appropriate,
♦ a vote taken, and/or recommendations made

Since the College Forum cannot be expected to devote all the time necessary for an adequate exploration of the advantages and disadvantages of particular proposals, a committee structure is necessary.
When an issue is identified, if it is appropriate to the purpose of an existing committee, it is forwarded to that committee. The committee's recommendations are then presented to the College Forum for action. The disposition may consist of discussion and vote or the creation of an ad hoc committee to study the issue. Since the President of the College is ultimately responsible for the administration of the College, all actions of the College Forum constitute recommendations to the President.

A. THE COLLEGE FORUM

The College Forum is comprised of those assemblages which call together full-time professional members of the college community plus others listed under "Voting Membership".

Purpose:
1. To provide the membership of the College Forum the opportunity to discuss and evaluate, and the voting members to vote on matters of mutual responsibility.
2. To provide an opportunity for all members to be informed about the activities of all segments of the governance structure.

Composition: Voting Membership (See definitions in Glossary)
